adventure tale,
Disappearances is the incredible story of a young man named Wild Bill Bonhomme and his reckless, larger-than-life father, Quebec Bill, who set out to smuggle Canadian liquor into Prohibition-era Vermont. Desperate to keep their family farm afloat, the pair embark on a heroic whiskey-running mission in the bitter winter of 1932.

This is the first time one of Howard Frank Mosher's novels is being "translated" for the stage. We are honored and humbled by the trust Mosher's family has shown in LNT allowing us to do it. Disappearances, Mosher's first published novel, was written in 1977 - the year that Kim Allen Bent founded Lost Nation Theater. Seems
