There are three general responses to evil: (1) passivity, (2) violent opposition, and (3) the third way of militant nonviolence articulated by Jesus. 1 Jesus abhors both passivity and violence as responses to evil. 2 Loving confrontation can free both the oppressed from docility and the oppressor from sin. 3

Jesus and Nonviolence: A Third WayStephen D Morrison
Nonviolence, according to Wink, is an alternative to either of the "natural" responses to evil--fight or flight. Jesus' "third way," as Wink sketches it, neither mirrors the violence of power as domination nor flees the scene in passive submission.

Instead, his approach was creative, liberating, morally-centered, empowering, instructive and even designed to expose injustice. Theologian-activist Walter Wink described this approach as Jesus' Third Way, or the way of Active Nonviolence. In the Spring of 2018, Province VIII sponsored three introductory workshops on Jesus' Third Way.

Jesus and Nonviolence, A Third Way
Jesus did not leave us many clues as to how to deal with violence and injustice from others - he usually was telling us how to be peaceful and just to others or how not to oppress or be violent to others - but we do have two accounts (in Matthew 5 and Luke 6) that describe Jesus' third and loving way. Jesus' third way of creative, loving, non-violent resistance is clearly the only way to love your enemies and it's the way to bring the reign of God's love and peace into our world and personal ...

Jesus' Third Way of Nonviolent Resistance - Walter Wink
Jesus is not telling us to submit to evil, but to refuse to oppose it on its own terms. We are not to let the opponent dictate the methods of our opposition. He is urging us to transcend both passivity and violence by finding a third way . one that is at once assertive and yet nonviolent. The correct translation would be the one
